Giving Report

2017-2018

Grounded Visionaries Campaign Committee Co-Chairs John K. F. Irving AB '83, MBA '89 and Phil Harrison AB '86, MArch '93 at the Accomplished Ambition Campaign Celebration.

Dear Alumni and Friends,

Four years ago, we set an audacious and significant goal: to raise $110 million for the Harvard University Graduate School of Design through the Grounded Visionaries campaign. The Campaign provided an opportunity to reflect and dream as we contemplated what defines the GSD and imagined the future of design. We depended on your generosity to advance the Campaign's core purpose: to attract the most talented, creative, innovative students and faculty and support their design ambitions.

Alumni and supporters the world over answered the call loudly and clearly, exceeding our goal by donating $162 million. Gifts large and small came in from London, Beijing, Hong Kong, Miami, Chicago, and Cambridge, raising record amounts to support financial aid, physical infrastructure, faculty, research, and more. Every donation marked an essential step in topping our goal and built an ever-growing community of grounded visionaries.

In the Campaign's final year, you displayed a resounding commitment to student financial aid and enhancing the academic experience. Over the course of the Campaign, gifts to the GSD Fund contributed over $3 million in tuition support for the next generation of design leaders. Nine of the 26 endowed fellowships established during the Campaign originated in the last year.

These fellowships increase diversity at the GSD and empower graduates to choose careers rooted in their passions. Alumni also established Community Service Fellowships to promote social justice and help current students make an impact in underserved communities.

Historic gifts fueled innovative new capital investments. The gift to name the Druker Design Gallery, thanks to Ronald M. Druker LF '76 and the Bertram A. and Ronald M. Druker Charitable Foundation, allows the gallery to display the work of faculty, students, and researchers and scholars from across the design fields and is laying the groundwork for the School's expansion of Gund Hall.

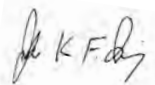

For your devotion to the School's efforts to solve some of the most pressing issues in today's society, we thank you. Funds raised through the Campaign extended far beyond the Harvard University campus, as donations helped expand the GSD's domestic and global reach. Support enabled research initiatives such as "HouseZero," a first-of-its-kind test case, to demonstrate unprecedented levels of building efficiency.

Designers have an inherent need to ask questions, to reach for more knowledge, to push forward. We will always continue on this path, but this report marks the final time we will address you as campaign co-chairs. It has been our honor to serve you and the School, redrawing the boundaries of how we imagine design in our world and how our students play a starring role. With the foundation you have built for the GSD's bright and creative minds, we have no doubt that the School will go forth to use design to build a more sustainable, equitable, and beautiful world.

Best wishes,

Philip L. Harrison AB '86, MArch '93

Students, Alums Extend Helping Hands through Community Service Fellowships

Contributions directed to the GSD's Community Service Fellowships have a multiplier effect in underserved communities: Current students receive funding to work with community organizations, federal and state agencies, and nonprofit institutions, assisting with design, research, or planning projects that the organizations ordinarily would not be able to access. Students who are awarded these fellowships earn $7,000 for 10-week internships in the United States and abroad, gain valuable work experience, and use their design education and training to help communities in need.

One of the inaugural recipients of the Wendy Evans Joseph MArch '81 Community Service Fund, Eric Moed MDes '19, engaging with children at Boston's Horizons for Homeless Children.

One example is the Lawrence and Marla Curtis Fund for Public Service, which provides support for summer internships with Massachusetts nonprofit or public sector organizations committed to affordable housing, historic preservation, neighborhood development, housing policy, and economic vitality. As president and managing partner of WinnDevelopment, Larry Curtis MAUD '83 has devoted his career to the creation of affordable housing and historic rehabilitation developments. Marla Curtis, an accomplished architect who owns a private architectural and consulting firm, has focused on the design of affordable housing in historic buildings. Together, they have advocated for the built environment, homes for working families, and equality in Massachusetts and beyond. The GSD will select the first Curtis Fellow for the summer of 2019.

The Wendy Evans Joseph MARCH '81 Community Service Fund supports summer fellowships at nonprofit or public sector organizations throughout the U.S. that work with underserved or economically disadvantaged communities. Wendy Evans Joseph is the founder of Studio Joseph in New York, which has completed a diverse array of public, institutional, and cultural projects. Her passion for art and museum culture and public education has led to the firm's strong commitment to museum design and temporary and permanent exhibition installation.

One of the first recipients of a fellowship from the Wendy Evans Joseph MARCH '81 Community Service Fund, Eric Moed MDes '19, spent the summer of 2018 working with Boston's Horizons for Homeless Children. During his 10-week internship, Moed helped with the design of a parents' resource room, a private space outside of a homeless shelter where parents can relax and learn about resources and job opportunities. As part of his design and development work, he assisted in finding and vetting contractors, coordinated with the head design architect of the organization's new building, and interviewed teachers, administrators, and parents about what they would like to see in the space. Moed also volunteered with toddlers and preschool children, helping them overcome individual frustrations and challenges and filling their days with play-based learning.

Other students with community service fellowships spent their summers working in local communities with organizations like the Boston Planning and Development Agency and the South Boston Neighborhood Development Corporation. Some worked in other domestic and international locations, including the municipality of Arganil, Portugal, and Jordanian refugee camps, where they worked with the Food Water Energy Consortium.

My education at GSD, and Marla’s education at Cornell Architecture, taught us the importance of the public-private process in designing buildings and cities. The public sector plays a critical role in the shaping of our urban environment. Our newly created Fund for Public Service will enable GSD students to work for public entities and gain an appreciation of this and further their career goals.

Lawrence H. Curtis MAUD ’83 and Marla G. Curtis

As an alumnus of the Graduate School of Design's Advanced Management Development Program, I recognize the value of the education and experiences I received towards my professional career and life goals. In response, I enjoy giving back to the School so it may continue its excellence in education towards “...creating a more beautiful, just, and coherent world...” in its diverse fields of studies.

In the Grounded Visionaries Campaign, Fellowships and Financial Aid Funds Finish Strong

In its final year the Grounded Visionaries campaign showed its global reach, most notably in the area of fellowships and financial aid. Thanks to the generosity of donors from all over the world, students from Canada, China, India, Israel, Palestine, and various Asian countries now have greater access to top-tier opportunities in design education and can learn alongside peers pursuing particular GSD programs.

Prior to the Campaign, the Harvard University Graduate School of Design had 38 endowed fellowships; today there are 63 endowed fellowships, marking a 60 percent increase in the number of endowed funds since the start of the Campaign. Of the 26 endowed fellowships established during the Campaign, 9 launched in fiscal year 2018. Those funds are:

- The Grounded Visionaries Alumni Council Financial Aid Fund, supported by current and former Alumni Council members, with lead gifts from Geoffrey LePlastrier MARCH '75 and an anonymous donor. This fund is providing aid to students active in the GSD community.
- The Moshe Safdie Fellowship Fund aids students from Israel or Palestine who are enrolled in the Master in Architecture, Master in Urban Planning, or Master of Architecture in Urban Planning programs.
- The Nagle-Johnson Family Fellowship established by Perkins+Will, Ralph Johnson MARCH '73, and Kathleen Nagle MARCH '87 provides financial aid to students attending the GSD with the aim of expanding prospects for underrepresented members of the GSD community.
- The Richard Murphy Fellowship Fund, created by the MLA '80 alumnus, supports students in the Master in Landscape Architecture II program.
- The C Foundation Fellowship Fund provides financial aid with a preference for GSD students from China.
- The Gennosuke Obata Fellowship Fund, funded by the Nipsea Management Company Pte Ltd, provides financial aid to GSD students from Asian countries.
- The Horne Family Fellowship Fund established by Bridget Colman and Mark M. Colman AB '83, MBA '87. This Fund provides aid for students from Canada.
- The Steven Plofker and Bobbi Brown Fellowship Fund, funded by Steven D. Plofker MCRP '80 and his wife, provides aid for students enrolled in the Master in Urban Planning program.
- The India Design Leadership Fund, established by Siddharth Yog MBA '04, provides financial aid for students from India.

I created an MLA II Fellowship to encourage and help more of these already seasoned design professionals come to the GSD to bring their immeasurable value to the entire program, especially as role models for the MLA I students. These MLA II students advance the quality of the GSD's experience by their varied professional backgrounds and professional work habits.

H. Langford Warren Society

The H. Langford Warren Society recognizes all alumni and friends of the GSD who have provided generous future support through life income plans, bequest provisions, or other deferred gift arrangements. The Warren Society is named for H. Langford Warren, an exemplary leader and visionary who founded the School of Architecture at Harvard. He established a model of cross-disciplinary collaboration that is still a hallmark of the GSD, joining the fields of science and fine arts to the study of architecture, and helped develop the nascent field of landscape architecture.

MDE External Advisory Board

Harvard University's Graduate School of Design (GSD) and John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences (SEAS) have launched a collaborative Master in Design Engineering (MDE) degree program, which began in fall 2016. The MDE External Advisory Board is a group of experts who work at the forefront of this fast-growing field or are deeply engaged in using and promoting its tools in various path-breaking applications. Their counsel is critical to ensuring that the MDE program stays in step with workforce needs and changing directions in the emerging field of design engineering.

Campaign Committee

The Campaign Committee was a group of alumni, friends, faculty, and administrators dedicated to the future of the GSD who took ownership in the success of the Grounded Visionaries campaign. The Committee was tasked with goal-setting and strategic planning and worked to engage a network of active, committed, and involved alumni, friends, and industry partners. The Committee helped to build a culture of philanthropy at the GSD, resulting in support that will extend beyond the Campaign.
